When RIT first located to the Henrietta Campus there were 3 restaurants, today there are nine. Options available to students range from vegetarian choices, ethnic foods and quick grab-and-go foods. RIT Dining Services also provide coffee shops, campus stores and catering. Students and faculty find it easier to pay for purchases using, "Tiger Bucks". This is a secure card that money can be added to and can be used not only on campus but also at multiple restaurants and stores surrounding the university. The food services on campus are, "...committed to providing our students with a variety of foods to suit their cultural, religious, and diverse needs."
